Follow us on

Hi {{ contact.FIRSTNAME }},

Today, we are showcasing three companies that we have enjoyed getting to know, and we believe they have great potential for the future. They are: 1) ContentMap, developing the world's fastest and most accurate search for all of your platforms from one window; 2) SolidBlock, which is developing the next generation of venture funding for commercial real estate powered by the blockchain; and 3) Spectrum CannaLabs, which is developing a streamlined pharmaceutical-grade hemp testing lab to help the cannabis industry develop medical-grade products. Please check out their profiles and our one-on-one interviews with the founders below. If you would like to get in touch with these amazing founders, please reply to this email and we will be happy to make an introduction.

We are also taking this opportunity to highlight one of our favorite investors and the Head Honcho at Expert DOJO, Brian Mac Mohan. In his interview, Brian shares a lot of very important lessons for founders who are fundraising. Please check out his interview on our investors' page.

Spectrum CannaLabs Streamlined Hemp Testing

Spectrum CannaLabs protects the health and safety of cannabis users with breakthrough testing protocols based on nearly two decades of experience in Biotech and clinical trials for the pharmaceutical industry. Lab testing for safety and compliance is still a huge bottleneck and they are the only company providing a pharmaceutical-grade testing solution in California. This business was started because the founder's oldest son is on the Autism Spectrum. Anecdotally cannabis can help with some of the sensitivities and anxieties. However, the industry is not at a point of medical-grade products and they are pushing for research, education, and pharmaceutical-grade cannabis so that those looking to improve their quality of life don't end up making it worse.
